Wimbledon Men's Singles 2011

The ATP top four of Nadal, Djokovic, Federer and Murray seems rock solid at the moment with few others getting a look in but Wimbledon can throw up wildcard champions as easily as top seeded ones. It's not just the prestige of winning the Championships that every player strives for but it might also have something to do with the £14.6 million in prize money.

Wimbledon Women's Singles 2011

The Williams stranglehold on the womens singles championship at Wimbledon has only been broken twice this millennium by Maria Sharapova in 04 and Amelie Mauresmo in 06. Serena will look to equal her sister's tally of five singles titles and her third on the bounce but Sharapova is fancied again and may be the one to cause the upset.

England v Sri Lanka T20

Bristol is the setting for the first of the five-match one day international series between England and Sri Lanka. England have dropped Paul Collingwood and Matt Prior in favour of batsman Craig Kieswetter and all rounder Samit Patel but the visitors will have their tails up following their frustration of England to tie the recent test series.

Three that's the magic number...

...yes it is, well that's how the song goes anyway.

What is the magic number?

How much profit do you need to make a month from your betting, systems or services?

A bit of a trick question there you should never need to make a profit.

Wanting to and needing to are two completely separate things so make sure you get that right first.

So realistically how much should you be aiming to achieve?

Well again there's no conclusive answer as everyone one operates in different ways.

Quite recently I've noticed people pushing micro systems, now for those that don't know, micro systems are simple systems that produce just a small number of selections. They can produce as little as one selection a week or month and their profits are generally smaller but possibly steadier.

Now these may only produce 10 points profit a year but if your equipped with 10 of these then you could be producing a 100+ points a year which is a healthy return.

What about subscriptions services?

Some people suggest not to bother with them but I think they have their place.

Major League Profits – Introduction

13th June 2011

Inspector Lucian-Introduces Major League Profits

Hi Bloggers,

Today I am introducing, Major League Profits an American Football selection service provided by Carlos.

Major League Profits football betting service operate with a recommended starting bank of 20 points and promise to triple this bank over the course of 2011 MLS season.

The service provide between 3 and 6 tips, motivated by a brief synopsis, directly in inbox, 24 hours before kickoff, from each round of games. Back bets only, no laying and no exchange requirement.

The tips could be straight win bets, over/under total goals bets, asian handicap bets and occasional parlay.

Coverage of Major League Profits – complete MLS season, including MLS Cup Playoffs and final in november, occasional bets from US Open Cup and CONCACAF Champions League matches involving MLS teams.

Full results from March to May are available on the Major League Profits website.

As it is anticipated that it is likely that there may only be action once or twice a week, we will be going straight to a 12 week review for Major League Profits.

For Major League Profits review I will use 1 pt level stake per bet, as recommended by the service.

So how much will the subscriptions cost? Currently at the time of doing this posting it costs £25.00 per month and two discounted packages are also available for half a season the price is £49.00 and full season £98.00.

This review of Major League Profits will start from Monday 13th June.

Bookmaker -the odds are the average odds available from about 30 different bookmakers as listed by betbrain.com at the time of the email with selections.

Regards,

Inspector Lucian
