PGA Championship
Irish eyes are certainly smiling in the golf world as Open champion Darren Clarke and US Open champion Rory McIlroy head to the Atlanta Athletic Club in Georgia for the US PGA Championship where fellow European Martin Kaymer looks to defend his 2010 crown. The world rankings are dominated by Europe's best and no American has won this major since Tiger Woods back in 2007.

Community Shield

Technically it may be a friendly but you can be sure there will be no love lost when the red and blue halves of Manchester meet up for the annual Community Shield at Wembley. United come here as league champions and City FA Cup winners but with the light blues spending big again Alex Ferguson's 'noisy neighbours' are sure to run the Red Devils close.

Hungarian Grand Prix

Having scored in Germany Lewis Hamilton's McLaren team rolls on to Budapest for the Hungarian Grand Prix. It was an unusual sight to see a podium without Sebastian Vettel as his mojo deserted him at the Nurburgring at the weekend but you can rest assured that the Red Bulls will keep pushing and look to remedy the situation. Meanwhile Fernando Alonso is ever present flying the flag for Ferrari.

English Premier League

The dominance of the Premier League this millennium by Manchester United, Chelsea and Arsenal looks set to be challenged this time by big-spending Manchester City. The red half of Manchester however remains the team to beat however as they seek a record 20th top flight title. Chelsea's new management set up will no doubt be closely scrutinised to see if they too can topple Alex Ferguson's stars.
